

PUBLIC COMMENT
Environmental Proposed Plan for
Five Points PCE Plume Superfund Site
Davis County, UT

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Utah Department of Environmental Quality (UDEQ) seek public comment on the proposed cleanup plan for the Five Points PCE Plume Site (Site), located in Woods Cross and Bountiful, Davis County, Utah. This Proposed Plan summarizes the cleanup alternatives that were evaluated and presents the Preferred Alternative for addressing the tetrachloroethene (PCE) contamination in groundwater associated with a dry cleaning operation located in Davis County, UT.

Based on current information, EPA and UDEQ have identified 'Containment at Plume Core and Plume Toe' as the Preferred Alternative for addressing PCE contamination in groundwater at the Site. This alternative consists of hydraulic containment at the plume toe and core to reduce the overall plume mass and prevent further migration of PCE. The PCE plume impacts the primary drinking water aquifer in the area and two municipal wells operated by Woods Cross City and two wells in North Salt Lake City. Because of the groundwater contamination, the EPA listed the site to the National Priorities List (NPL) in 2007.

A final remedy for the site will be selected after reviewing and considering all information submitted during the 30-day public comment period beginning July 31, 2015. UDEQ, in cooperation with EPA may modify the Preferred Alternative or select other response actions presented in this plan based on new information or public comments.

PUBLIC COMMENT PERIOD:

July 31 to August 31, 2015

The public is invited to comment on the Preferred Alternative or to bring other options forward by August 31, 2015. UDEQ and EPA will conduct two public meetings during the comment period in order to present the Proposed Plan and supporting information.
