

Great Salt Lake Water Quality Steering Committee

How Decisions Will Be Made:

The goal is to work for consensus in reaching decisions.

In order to forward a final recommendation to the Water Quality Board, a supermajority – meaning that at least $\frac{3}{4}$ of all the members on the committee are supportive – is required. A minority opinion may also be forwarded. If a supermajority is not possible, then opinions with position papers will be forwarded.

A quorum is defined as $\frac{2}{3}$ of the members of the committee. Procedural issues require the support of $\frac{2}{3}$ of the members present in the meeting.

At least 5 working days notice of each meeting is to be given to committee members.
